Foreword

To revive epochal incidents in the history of our Alma Mater; to perpetuate them for future generations of McKendreans; to present a true record of the College year—such has been the purpose of the Staff of the 1924 McKendrean.

The College Chapel

Through the green arches of fresh-leaved trees which dot the campus, the College Chapel, with its stately spire reaching heavenward, recalls to our minds the pleasant days and years we have spent at McKendree—the morning devotional hour, the entertainments, the exhibitions, and other activities of the College in which we have been privileged to participate.

In the busy market places of the world, in the legislative and judicial chambers, in the classroom, in the service of the Master, and in the evening glow of the fireside, men and women who have made and are making American civilization the envy of the world will think back, sometimes, to McKendree, and will see again in reverent memory, Old Main.

ACTIVITIES, LIKES, AND DISLIKES

Benson Wood Library

The storehouse of the ages, wherein we find the works of the masters and are privileged to witness the drama of civilization as the actors move across the stage from the dawn of history to the present day. Here we see again enacted primitive man's struggle to rise from barbarism, great generals and armies as they sweep across the pages of history, daring explorers as they penetrate the unknown, martyrs to religious and political ideals, the scientist as he investigates the natural laws—all the wealth and lore of the ages are gathered together under the vaulted roof of the library.

Our McKendree

*A College 'mid plains is standing, standing there from olden days,
The Pioneer of the prairies, first in untrodden ways,
For service and Christian culture, for efficiency she stands,
Her sons and daughters praise her, with voices, hearts and hands.*

Chorus:

*Hail to thee our dear old McKendree,
May we always loyal be,
It's a song of praise we'll raise to thee,
Alma Mater, dear old M-C,
May we ever own thee true and wise and right,
Honor Purple and the White,
And for victory we'll always fight,
'Till we win for old M-C-K.*

*Enduring and strong she stands there, stands upon our College Hill,
Though others may outnumber, she holds the first place still,
For beauty and truth and knowledge, and for service without bound,
Then let us raise our voices, until the plains resound.*

Chorus:

Although founded in 1828 as Lebanon Seminary, the name of the institution was changed in 1830 to McKendree College in honor of Bishop William McKendree. The first charter was received in 1835. Largely through the influence of Abraham Lincoln, a new and more liberal charter was obtained in 1839, and is still in force.

BOOK OF THE CLASSES

Senior History

On the twenty-seventh day of September in the year Nineteen Hundred and Twenty A. D. fifty-five aspiring lads and lasses departed from the shores of parental jurisdiction to embark upon the mystic voyage of a college career, eagerly anticipating a day four years hence when the last lap of the voyage of life should begin. Now that day has come, bringing to us, not a spirit of eager anticipation, but one of reluctant realization that those college days have passed too quickly. They are mere memories; pleasant, 'tis true,—exciting, too.

We had things our way the first year here, although the green was slow to wear off. The grass, however, was harder than weeds and we soon crowded the upper-classmen out of the way. Our first attempt to have a 'feed' was crushed, we admit, but a counter attempt was successful and from them we defied all of them, ate when we liked and said what we pleased.

Our return the next year was marked by renewed vigor and determination to instill in the hearts of every McKendreean a true college spirit. To do this we had to be the examples. The Freshies of this year were not the right caliber to experiment with. So we gave our own parties, invited fellow McKendreeans, and really were a congenial bunch. Five girls from our ranks effected the organization of the Student Volunteer Band. Then came the campaign for McKendree's endowment and the Class of '24 responded with the largest pledge of all classes. The crowning achievement of the year was the establishment of the Student Association and the election of one from our midst as the first president.

In our Junior year we did not intend to be forced into the background and from the beginning maintained our position so nobly obtained. Although many did not return, the twenty-five who did, ably carried on our colors. Again, one from our class was elected president of the Student Association and was re-elected the following term. Assistantships in every department of college work were awarded to members of the Class of 1924.

The works of the former three years were carried on during our Senior year. In all school activities we had our representatives in the Student Association, in the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets, on the 1924 McKendree Staff, assistantships and student instructors. It was indeed appropriate that the student body should dedicate the beautiful elm to the memory of the Class of 1924.

But these are reminiscences, the actualities never to be experienced again. However, these pleasant memories of attainments in our college career encourage us and arouse within us the determination to attain to the best in life.

In an effort to aid young men earning their way through college, the McKendree Self-Help Plan was started last Fall by Dr. Harmon. Arrangements were made with Swift's in East St. Louis to furnish the students with employment for periods of one week. They then returned to college for two weeks. In this manner students were enabled to earn two-thirds of the usual number of semester hours of credit while aiding themselves financially. An effort is now being made to secure the location of a factory in Lebanon so that the system may be continued on a larger scale and in a more convenient manner.

The first edifice for higher education in the State of Illinois was erected on the campus of McKendree College. It was started in 1828 and completed the following year. In 1856, after 27 years of service, it was destroyed by a fire of incendiary origin.

BOOK OF FINE ARTS

Fine Arts

The School of Music and Expression of McKendree College offers a four year course in music leading to the degree of Bachelor of Music. To those completing the work in the Expression Department a certificate is awarded. A two year course in public school music is also offered, a state certificate being granted to those completing it.

Due to the close affiliation of the College of Liberal Arts and Science and the School of Music, McKendree College offers unique advantages to those desiring a musical education.

Membership in the College Glee Clubs and Quartette is by competitive examination. The training received by participation in these activities is invaluable not only to those looking forward to a musical career but also to those studying music for its cultural benefits.

Although specializing in the advance work, attention is given to the preparation of beginners in all branches of work.

An added feature of the School is the study made of great artists. Due to the proximity of Lebanon to St. Louis students are enabled to attend the concerts given in that city by great artists at a nominal cost.

The faculty for the year 1924-1925 will be as follows:

Grant McDonald, Director and Department of Piano.

Pauline Harper, Voice.

Olive E. Patmore A. B., Expression

Harry Mueller, Violin.

GRANT McDONALD,

In almost any school or college one may find a band of instrumental harmonists. Very few institutions, however, can boast of an organization such as the McKendree orchestra. Only five of its former members were back at the beginning of the first semester but with ten new members to fill the ranks, prospects for the year looked bright from the very first. Rehearsals began; after a few weeks of faithful practice the initial public appearance was made on the McKendree Home-Coming program. From that time on, numerous appearances at the College and at public entertainments gave experience to the players and enjoyment to the various audiences.

At present the Orchestra is composed of fifteen members. Elaborate plans are being formulated by the society for next year during which time several tours are to be made.

The McKendree Quartette is one of the best in this section. This is vouched for by the immediate popularity it has met with everywhere it has gone. The programs are of high grade and are very clever and interesting. In addition to regular quartette numbers, the men give solos, readings and a play. For versatility and true entertaining ability, they are unsurpassed.

This is the first year these men have been together but they sing with the tonal effect and confidence of professionals. The quartette has filled numerous engagements out of town. This summer they plan to tour Southern Illinois making eighty-eight towns in their itinerary.

The McKendree Quartette has Harold Brown of Centralia, Ill., as first tenor; Kenneth Ripple of Moberly, Mo., as second tenor; Earl Hussong, of Independence, Kansas, as baritone; Lewis Peterson of Mt. Vernon, Ill., as bass and Thomas Wittenburg of Benton, Ill., as soloist.

This is the first year that McKendree has had a Young Men's Glee Club in a number of years. This year the Club is composed of sixteen regular members. The Club loses only one man this year. Thus with Prof. McDonald as director, and a large Freshman class from which to choose, we are assured of another good Glee Club next year.

The Club is an efficient organization. It has a regular time for meeting. It selects its officers every semester. The officers for the first semester were Paul Jones, president, and Lewis Peterson, corresponding secretary. The second semester Buell Robbs was elected president and Lewis Peterson re-elected corresponding secretary.

The Club filled several engagements in Lebanon, Madison, East St. Louis and several other places. The Club plans to make an extended trip for a week or ten days next year. College credit is given for Glee Club work.

Our College has always felt the need of Glee Clubs and this year a most successful attempt at building up such organizations was made. The Girls' Glee Club was organized in November but circumstances prevented any serious work until February. Since that time the Club has developed rapidly in strength and ability, and prospects for a strong Club next year are of the best. The Club will be one of the most worthy organizations of its nature in the community.

The Girls' Glee Club has appeared in Chapel and on recital at various times. The first out-of-town date was filled at the State Street Methodist Church in East St. Louis in May. A well balanced program of club numbers, solos and readings was prepared and presented.

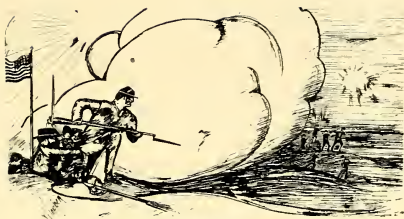

The Gypsy Rover

Under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Davis, assisted by Mrs. D. W. Shipp, the McKendree Players presented the Gypsy Rover, a musical comedy, at Singer Hall, April 15. It was the only such production attempted this school year and showed the result of intensive practice and directing.

The 117th Illinois Volunteer Infantry Regiment in the Civil War was known as the McKendree Regiment because of the large number of McKendree students and professors who served in it as officers and enlisted men.

BOOK OF ATHLETICS

The Coaching Staff

In Earl A. Davis, director of athletics, and Prof. J. P. Neel, assistant coach, McKendree possesses a coaching staff unrivaled by any small college in this part of the country. Both are veteran players in all lines of sport; both have had a number of years experience in the coaching profession; and both have turned out championship teams in all branches of sport.

This is the first year for both of them at McKendree. As was to be expected, they were forced to spend most of this year developing their men and in laying the groundwork for future successes.

Davis came to us from Missouri Wesleyan College, where he was director of athletics for six years. During that time he won several state titles in football and other sports.

Neel was director of athletics at Chillicothe College, and as such often pitted his teams against those coached by Davis. As a result they understand each other's methods and are working together to give McKendree the best era of athletics in her history.

The M Club

The McKendree College 'M' Club, to which only men who have been awarded an athletic 'M' are eligible, was organized this year. The Club seeks to foster clean athletics and interests itself in the development of the athletic prowess of its Alma Mater.

Dr. Cameron Harmon, president of McKendree College, was elected the first president; John Isom, vice president and Henry Dietz, secretary-treasurer.

The Football Season

The football season of 1923 was unique in that it was contemporaneous with a large growth in student body. Coach Earl A. Davis, coming from Missouri Wesleyan College found upon his arrival, High School stars, College stars, and the usual less capable aspirants for athletic honors, all numbering about thirty. From this aggregation he built, with the valuable aid of Coach Neel, a fighting machine of great promise to McKendree athletics. That the promise was fulfilled is shown by the success of the season.

The season began by a game with Scott Field. The preceding training had made the McKendree Eleven a fighting machine which was easily the master of the Army aggregation. Early in the game Garrett, halfback, about whom Coach Davis had built many plays, received a collar-bone fracture which ended the season for him and lost for McKendree an accurate passer and brilliant runner. Notwithstanding this loss to the team a sensational run by Lee, with the touchdown by Isom ended the game with a six to zero score for the Purple.

Culver-Stockton, a formidable Eleven from Missouri, next came to Hypes Field. There was much fumbling caused by a cold, wet field, but the game gave splendid promise for the McKendree team. Excellent punting by Berst, McKendree fullback, was an important feature of the game, which ended with a zero-zero score against the powerful Missourians.

The third game, with Eastern Illinois Normal University, was played at Charleston. A brilliant open game in the final quarter evened chances for the Purple after three quarters of mastery by the mighty up-state eleven. A shift from punting to passing by Captain Willis permitted a gain of sixty yards by Goode and Pettit, with a final touchdown by Goode, before the whistle blew. The final score was thirteen to thirteen.

When the McKendree Machine went to Carlinville for the game with Blackburn several of the regulars were absent, but this fact did not prevent a victory. In spite of the Blackburn team's well ordered defense and consistent passing, Willis, Pettit, and Lee crossed the Blackburn line, which, helped by kicks by Isom, ended the annual argument with a twenty-three to three victory for the Purple.

When Lincoln came they found the McKendrees entertaining alumni and friends. The Railsplitters contributed to the entertainment by an exhibition of splendid football on Hypes Field, and put up a valiant but futile fight against the undefeated Purple. Good interference and brilliant running brought a touchdown by Lee, which was followed by a touchdown by Lincoln. An excellent defensive game by Pettit led to an exchange of the ball after a powerful drive by the Railsplitters, and the Purple started the march which terminated in a touchdown by Search and try-for-goal by Isom. The game ended, thirteen to six.

The first defeat of the Season came when McKendree met Cape Girardeau Normal at Cape Girardeau. A cold, wet field hindered both teams, but a safety in the first quarter by Cape proved to be the only chance for a score, and the game ended two-to-zero in favor of the Missourians.

McKendree went to Alton determined to gain a victory over Shurtleff, but due to inefficient interference and in spite of a brilliant passing attack, hopes were dashed when the Pioneers brought defeat for the Purple with a twelve point score.

One week later McKendree defeated Western Military Academy on Hypes Field. Even after substitution of second-string men by Coach Davis the Purple gained a nineteen point lead on the Cadets, and held them scoreless.

When the McKendree Eleven went to Carbondale for the annual Classic with S. I. N. U., a muddy field awaited it. After a punting duel in which Berst proved the master, the Egyptians opened up with an aerial attack for which the Purple defense proved inadequate. A remarkable tackle by Dietz in the last half prevented a touch-down for Carbondale just before the whistle blew with a twenty-to-seven score spelling defeat for the Davis men.

The last game of the season, on Thanksgiving Day, occurred at Springfield, Missouri with the Southwest Missouri Teachers' College. Playing before more than one thousand fans on a field covered with mud and snow, the Purple lost by a twenty-six to zero score.

Thus ended the season. In the ten games played the Purple made a total of eighty points to the opponents' eighty-two. Four games were won, two were tied, and four were lost. Considering that Coach Davis, coming from another college built a new team, the season was a success. Only three letter men returned to College last fall and since the team is composed largely of lower classmen, great hopes may be raised for football at McKendree.

Football Letter Men 1923

ALBERT WILLIS, CAPTAIN, QUARTERBACK

THEODORE SEARCH, RIGHT HALFBACK

JOHN ISOM, FULLBACK

JAMES NEWCOM, RIGHT END

ROBERT MINTON, GUARD AND FULLBACK

ORANGE COLLOM, END

ALBERT WILLIS
Captain, Quarterback
ELDORADO, ILL.

Willis, playing his second year on the McKendree team, played a versatile game. He is the only man in college to win two football letters. But for an accident at the beginning of the season in his Freshman year he would no doubt be the possessor of three M's. He is a Junior.

JOHN ISOM, Fullback
CHRISTOPHER, ILL.

Isom is the only college football man in Southern Illinois to receive mention for the All-State team. He is a consistent ground gainer and plays a great defensive game. This was his first year on the McKendree team. He is a Sophomore.

THEODORE SEARCH
Right Halfback
WHITE HALL, ILL.

Ted, playing his first year for the Purple, was a star performer. He gained ground, broke up passes, or did anything else that the occasion required. He will be back again next year.

LLOYD PETTIT, Center
PATTONSBURG, MO.

Speed is the man around whom the team was built. Easily the best center in Southern Illinois, he was a constant source of trouble to the opposition. He was a stonewall on the defense and a veritable tornado on the offense.

CHRISTOPHER, ILL.

Dietz, playing left guard, made up in fighting spirit what he lacked in weight. He was in every play and broke through the line time and time again to spoil the plans of the opposition for a gain. He is a Sophomore.

ROBERT MINTON, Right Guard
MURPHYSBORO, ILL.

Bob was a general utility man, playing on the line or dropping back to the backfield as the need might be. As a High School player he was selected as the best full back in Southern Illinois and he lived up to his reputation as a member of the Purple squad. He is a Freshman.

RAY CARTER, Right Guard
CARTERVILLE, ILL.

Opposing teams soon learned that they could gain no ground through Carter. He played his position like a veteran and will be one of the sources of strength for the Purple for the next two years.

WHITE HALL, ILL.

One of the White Hall duet, Goode was all that his name implied. He was a sure tackler and could get down the field to receive a forward pass faster than the opposition could cover him. He is a Freshman.

OBLONG, ILL.

It made no difference to Berst whether he was wanted on the line to stop the drive of the enemy, or in the backfield to punt the ball out of danger. He also excelled as a forward passer and much of the credit for the team's success must be given to him.

JAMES NEWCOM, Right End
HERRIN, ILL.

Playing his first year of college football, Newcom developed into a star performer before the season ended. Always in the fight, his was a hard position for opponents to get around. He is a Junior and will be back again next fall to aid Coach Davis in winning the State title.

Basketball

The basketball season of 1923-'24 began well, with more than thirty men out for practice in Eisenmeyer Gymnasium. The coaches worked with individual groups until finally all were eliminated except a group of fifteen men, from which group the squad was selected. Dietz, '26 was elected to the captaincy to fill the vacancy caused by the non-return of Captain-elect Sullins.

The schedule was in many respects the hardest attempted in recent years by the Purple and White. St. Louis University, Illinois Wesleyan, Eastern Illinois Normal and Concordia were considered the strongest teams to be met by the McKendree cagemen. Added to these new comers were Shurtleff, Southern Illinois Normal, and Lincoln, tried and worthy cage battlers against the Purple.

Early in the season, after much hard work and drill, on the part of the Davismen, they met St. Louis University at Eisenmeyer gymnasium and conquered the powerful newcomers. This victory knitted the squad into a machine which was destined to grind out many such successes during the season. An exchange of victories occurred with S. I. N. U., the Egyptians winning the return game at Eisenmeyer gymnasium. This loss upset the "dope" and caused much glee in the Egyptian camp—glee with which no loyal McKendreean could sympathize, since our squad was in a slump due to colds, "flu" and difficult trips to the northern part of the state. McKendree won from Shurtleff at Alton by a score of 27-21.

The season ended with the return game with Shurtleff. A 26-39 victory over the Pioneers ended a brilliant and successful season for the Purple in which the Davis men won nine of thirteen games. Newcom. Berst, Carter, Dietz, Isom, Pearce, and Willis each starred, in that each did his part in making a fast, furious, fighting five, whenever and however directed by the coaching staff.

The scores for the season follow:

Western Military Academy	14; McKendree	21
Southern Illinois Normal	14; McKendree	21
Herrin Elks	10; McKendree	20
St. Louis University	10; McKendree	14
Concordia	41; McKendree	26
Lincoln	15; McKendree	24
Illinois Wesleyan	38; McKendree	18
Shurtleff	21; McKendree	27
St. Louis University	41; McKendree	18
Lucecock Lodge	8; McKendree	30
Southern Illinois Normal	18; McKendree	13
Scott Field	11; McKendree	38
Lincoln	10; McKendree	21
Shurtleff	26; McKendree	33
Totals	282	309

The Track Team

In the Washington, Rolla, McKendree track meet held in St. Louis at the beginning of the season the Purple track men showed the result of training and coaching by placing second. Ray Goode won the javelin with ease, throwing it 180 feet. He also took first in the shot. Isom placed in several events and the other men gave a good account of themselves.

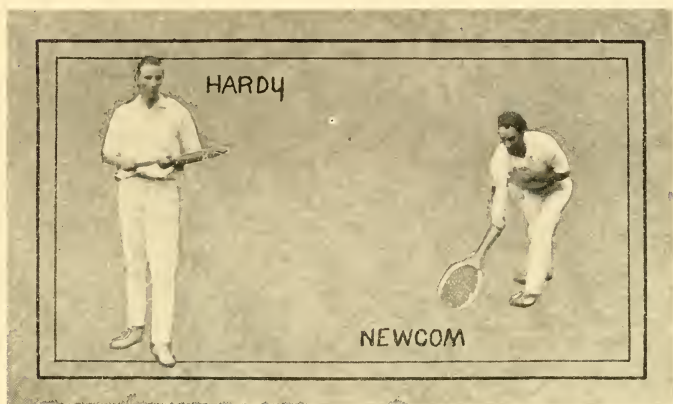

For most of the men it was their first collegiate competition, and for many of them it was their first effort on the track. Coach Davis will have an experienced squad of track athletes, Goode, Isom, Frey, Darrow, Ross, Karnes, Pettit, Dolley, Ravenstein, Plater, and Rehmus, around which to build a strong team next season.

The medley relay team, Isom, 220 yd. dash; Darrow, 440 yd. dash; Frey 880 yd. run; and Karnes, mile run, took part in the Drake Relays and made an excellent showing. The team also met Shurtleff and Western Military Academy at Alton.

Tennis

Despite inclement weather and other adverse conditions the McKendree College tennis team, composed of James Newcom and Vernal Hardy, developed into a fast aggregation. They were eliminated, however, in the Southern Sectional Tennis Tournament of the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference which was held at Alton.

After the experience of playing together this year, the team should develop into championship class for another season. Such is expected of them.

The Seventh Annual McKendree Interscholastic

Thirty-seven Central and Southern Illinois high schools participated in the Seventh Annual McKendree Interscholastic which was given May 3 by McKendree College. Carlinville high school won the track and field meet, amassing a total of 25 points; East St. Louis and Murphysboro tied for first place in the intellectual contest with 11 points each; and Murphysboro won the tennis tournament, Blair and Habermehle winning both the doubles and the singles.

The McKendree Interscholastic is the largest track meet held in Southern Illinois, 11 more high schools participating in the local meet than in any other held in this section of the State.

Jarboe, of Murphysboro, and Phelps, of Carlinville, won the individual honors in the track meet this year. The Murphysboro track star won first place in the 100 yd dash and in the 220 yard dash, and Phelps won first place in the mile run and in the half mile run.

The Eighth Annual McKendree Interscholastic will be held the first Saturday in May, 1925.

Founded as a co-educational institution in 1828, McKendree College abandoned that policy within a few years. Following a long struggle, the advocates of co-education were victorious in 1869 and women have been admitted on a plane of equality with men since that time.

BOOK OF ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations

In many institutions it is said the "sideshows are larger than the main tent." Such is not the case, however, at McKendree. The "sideshows," the organizations, receive proper recognition and every student is encouraged to belong to those in which he is interested. But never is he encouraged to sacrifice time in the work of the various clubs which should be spent in the fundamental purpose—education.

McKendree College has clubs for every purpose; the literary societies, Clio, Plato and Philo, are unequaled. Philo and Plato, for men, are two of the oldest literary societies in existence, the former having been established in 1836 and the latter in 1849. Clio provides the opportunity for co-eds to become proficient in public speaking and literary endeavor.

The Christian organizations seek to inculcate the spirit of Christ; the musical organizations provide rare opportunities for those gifted in that line; the Press Club gives students with journalistic aspirations a medium for expression; and the Student Association affords a means for self-government and community work.

The Student Association of McKendree affords the students an opportunity to do practical work in governing themselves and in securing profitable training for later citizenship.

The Association was organized in the fall of 1921 for the three fold purpose of centralizing all student activities, of stimulating enthusiasm in behalf of the College, and of giving backing to any student or any group of students representing McKendree.

The Student Association endeavors to promote the welfare of the other organizations and despecially lends its support to the intellectual and athletic activities of the student body, thus making the students' life as interesting and educational as possible.

The chapel period each Friday morning is placed at the disposal of the Association. At this time entertaining and instructive programs are given for the benefit of the students. In addition to the weekly programs the student business is regularly brought before the Association for consideration.

The Wayfarer's Club, composed of the Master Masons of the college, was established with a three fold purpose in view: To foster and promote the ideals and principles of Freemasonry in the school, to advance a broader fellowship among the members, and to improve the workmanship of the craft.

The club was organized in November 1922 with Jesse L. Clemens president. Benjamin C. Maxie, Vice President and Paul D. Reese as Secretary and Treasurer. Weekly meetings were held throughout the year and under the guiding influence of Dean E. P. Baker as instructor and leader the intentions and purposes of the club were abundantly realized.

The organization has been continued through the present year.

The Philosopher Literary Society

The Philosopher Literary Society is the oldest literary organization in continuous existence west of the Alleghenies. The Society was organized in 1837 and since then has been sending representatives into every walk of life.

Philo boys have served in three wars. Colonel Ridson M. Moore, a Philo, headed the "McKendree" regiment during the Civil War. The first McKendree to make the supreme sacrifice, in the World War, was Leo Glen McCormack, of Bone Gap, Illinois.

Some of Philo's prominent sons are: Chas. S. Deneen, Judge William M. Farmer, L. Y. Sherman and Silas Bryan.

Philo's representation in the Illinois Legislature began in 1849, and from that time on, with the exception of brief intervals, she has had her representatives in every session. The same has been true in Congress since 1863. The society has been represented on the Judicial Bench since 1857.

The principal aim of the society is to provide an opportunity for the student to develop "in oratorical attainments, and scientific and literary pursuits." It also provides a social privilege, a fellowship with other members, which is of great value.

The Clionian Literary Society

The Clionian Literary Society was founded in 1869, with fourteen charter members. Miss Edith M. Flint, who was the first woman graduate of McKendree, was also the first president of Clio. The work which has been accomplished along literary lines during Clio's fifty-five years of existence is deserving of high praise. Very few girls, who have passed through McKendree's Halls, as students have failed to join hands with that group of girls who are commonly known as Clios.

The Clionian Literary Society is the only girls' organization on the campus which does literary work. The aims of the society are, primarily, to bring the girls closer together in their social life, to cultivate an appreciation of and a desire for literary work. During the past year many interesting programs have been given.

Clio holds an important place in the life of each girl at McKendree. The standards which were established with the founding of the society are being upheld by the present Clionians. We are proud of the early record of the society. Her ideals are of the highest type. She trains the mind so that opportunities are met and difficulties are overcome in such a manner as to bring the greatest success. Clio serves as an incentive to mental life and action.

Shall we always keep in mind what the wise man has said, "Contentment with present attainment is the beginning of all decline."

Platonian Literary Society

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Platonian Literary Society was observed on June 5th at the regular triennial banquet which was held in Pearson's Hall. Prof. E. B. Waggoner, '75, acted as toastmaster and several distinguished alumni of the society responded to toasts.

The year 1923-24 has been a profitable one for the Society. Some 30 new men have joined Plato's ranks, making a total of more than 40 active Platonians. The monthly open session programs have been given regularly and have been well patronized by visitors and friends of Plato.

Plato is a vital force on the campus, interesting herself in every movement which has for its purpose the betterment of "Old McKendree."

A vital factor in the life of the College, Plato has a history which appeals to all. Organized in April, 1849, Plato has not only been a factor in college life but has been the place of training and inspiration for twenty-two hundred men.

Many and illustrious are the men who have passed through Plato's halls and gone forth to places of honor and trust in all walks of life. Among the sons of Plato who have held important positions are General John A. Halderman, former minister to Siam; Charles P. Johnson, lieutenant-governor of Missouri; General Wesley Merritt; William A. Kelsoe, journalist; and Carroll Boggs, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court.

The Young Men's Christian Association affords the greatest opportunity on the College Hill for the young men. It strives toward the highest standards in physical, mental and spiritual development. At the regular Wednesday night meetings it offers the inspiration of fellowship, devotion and good speakers.

During the year several members have been sent as delegates to the various inter-collegiate conventions. Group discussion meetings are conducted weekly under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in Carnegie Hall.

The Y. W. C. A. is one of the live organizations maintained by the students at McKendree. The association is especially helpful to the new girls who, having received the "advance guard letter" before their arrival requesting them to become members, are met at the train by old members and made to feel at home. This year, for the first time, the Big Sisters plan was carried out.

The regular devotional meetings are held every Wednesday evening, and are led by the members themselves or by out-of-town speakers.

The social life of the school is promoted by this organization in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. through a number of entertainments, the first of which is the "Get Acquainted Social" at the beginning of the year.

The Y. W. C. A. plays an important part in maintaining the moral atmosphere in the College.

Intercollegiate debating was revived at McKendree, after a lapse of a few years, by the formation at Alton of the Southern Illinois Intercollegiate debating League consisting of three members, McKendree, Shurtleff and Greenville. The first debate under the League was on the question of the Government ownership of coal mines. This was held in April, 1923. Owing to a technicality in the decision of the debate held here no championship was awarded.

The debating season of 1924 was a complete success resulting in the awarding to McKendree the championship of the League. The question debated was Resolved: "that the United States should join the League of Nations." The affirmative team composed of F. E. Stelsreide, O. R. Speckel-meyer and J. B. Zimmerman. The negative had Paul D. Reese, Milburn P. Akers and Walter Bailey. The affirmative won from Greenville while the negative team lost to the Alton co-eds by a small margin. However, after the total number of points scored, by both of the McKendree teams, was added up McKendree had won the championship of the League. She is going to do the same thing next year.

The McKendree Review was first published in 1921 by class journalism. During the summer of 1923 plans were made for the organization of a Press Club with those students who had taken journalism as charter members. When College began in September this organization was effected. Since that time the other members have been selected and 24 admitted. The Press Club is a self-supporting organization and has full charge of the publishing of the McKendree Review, which is issued weekly. Here students obtain practical experience in newspaper work.

A Laugh or Two

Bob Minton: "I see by this paper that the workers of the country are ruining it."

"Red" Berst: "Didn't I always say that work was no good?"

Why doesn't
"Speed" wear his room-mates' clothes?

The McKendree Review ever get out on the date of publication?

The faculty abolish final exams?

McKendree join the 'Big Ten'?

Bill Sawyer get Young?

Hussong believes "that considering the price some women pay for their hose they must be up to their knees in debt."

Peterson is of the opinion "that woman doesn't pay. She buys and the man with her does the paying."

The football players say "that a certain garage man in Edwardsville is still looking for a quantity of lead pencils."

We always heard
That McKendree
Was a pretty good place
But never
Till we came here
And heard everybody
Tell how awful
The other fellow
Is
Did we realize
What a hole
Of iniquity
The place
Really is.

Dr. Hall (questioning John who wishes a raise in allowance): "What's the average income of your fellow students at McKendree?"

John: "About three a. m."

Prof. Neel: "What were the last words of Lord Chesterfield?"

Smokers' Row (in chorus): "They satisfy."

Gertrude Nolting (buying shoes): "These shoes are too tight. I do have so much trouble with my feet."

Clerk: "Well, you have a lot to complain about."

Doctor (looking over Mayo Magill after his encounter with McAfee): "Ever have any serious accident?"

Mayo: "No."

Doctor: "Then what's the bandage on your head for?"

Mayo: "I got hit."

Doctor: "Don't you call that an accident?"

Mayo: "No, the sucker did it on purpose."

Plater: "I sure made a break at the Dean's table today."

Robbs: "Don't tell me the old one about the cracked plate."

Plater: "No, the Dean asked me if I would have some more corn and I passed my glass."

Grael: "Patterson is a cheerful fellow. Did you notice that he was whistling as he loaned me five dollars?"

Bailey: "Yes—he was whistling Tosti's 'Goodbye, Forever.'"

"Lefty": "The other day I was fishing and caught one of those big fish—let's see, what do you call 'em?"

Neel: "Oh, you mean a whale?"

"Lefty": "No, that couldn't have been it. I was using whales for bait."

Kinsey: "Does your sweet mama know anything about automobiles?"

Mont Jones: "I should say not. The other evening she asked me if I cooled the engine by stripping the gears."

The way some of the faculty have been flunking students this semester quite a number of the two hundred freshmen for next year will have already spent a year at McKendree.

INFORMATION

McKendree College expects all freshmen to observe the following rules:

- (1). Not more than 10 students can visit the kitchen ice box a night.
- (2). Dormitory rooms must be cleaned at least once a semester.
- (3). No freshman shall study more than eight hours a day.
- (4). No freshman shall beat an upper classman out of his girl.

Senior Class Prophecy

I was standing ankle deep in mud. The only foreign language I knew—and it wasn't the kind one finds listed in a college catalog—was inadequate to express my feelings. My Ford, a 1942 model, which made it but seven years old at the time, refused to function. Not only did it refuse to function, but it paid no attention whatever to the dire fate I threatened it with.

Becoming disgusted with the situation, I started across the field to the nearest farm house. More mud. More foreign language.

To my sorrow I discovered that the owner of the farm was not at home. The hired man informed me that he was secretary of the chamber of commerce of the nearby village and had gone there to attend an important business meeting. He understood that the chamber was endeavoring to induce Dr. J. W. Cralley, a veterinarian of little more than local repute, to locate his livery barn and animal hospital in that city.

But the hired man would call the farmer-secretary's wife and see if she would allow him to use a team to pull me out of the mud if I so desired. I so desired.

He went into the house to obtain permission. He returned with the news that he would aid me for the small charge of ten dollars. I remonstrated. He was firm. I made use of more foreign language. He agreed to call the farmer's wife and did so.

As soon as I saw her standing in the doorway I knew the situation was changed, the day was saved, and so were my ten dollars. She was profuse in her apologies. She didn't know it was a fellow McKendreon who was in trouble. Martha ordered the hired man to hitch up the team immediately.

I inquired as to where I might find Ernest and was told to go to the chamber of commerce. He spent most of his time there, she said, in an attempt to have big industries locate in Mounds. So far, he had secured a new blacksmith shop for the town.

The hired man and his team succeeded in placing me on terra firma once more and I sped on into the village. I found the chamber of commerce building and went into the office of the secretary.

There was Ernest. He was jubilant. Mounds was to be the location of Dr. Cralley's new hospital. The doctor had just departed. Ernest insisted on taking me home with him for dinner. We went and while Martha busied herself in cooking the meal we talked about McKendree.

Had I any news of the old school?

I didn't. Ernest therefore began to tell me all the information he had gleaned from the Alumni Notes of the McKendree Review.

Cecil Corlew, he told me, had achieved international fame as a toe-dancer. Her engagement to a scion of an ancient English family had recently been announced.

The next bit of information "Dizzy" told me was even more surprising than the tale of Cecil's success on the stage. Haase, it seemed, had been freed of his clerical garments by the conference. Ten years after receiving his degree he had become pastor of an aristocratic church in New York City. He evidently liked the social whirl, for he became an ardent advocate of dancing.

And the fate of another one of the members of the Class of '24 was even more astonishing. Shipp, the august Mr. Shipp, was at that very moment engaging in leading a campaign seeking to establish blue shirts—work shirts—as the correct attire for business and social occasions.

But my astonishment knew no bounds when I was told Agnes Tressler and Ruth Fain had been returned from the foreign field. Agnes had sought to have the heathen adopt bobbed hair. Ruth, well Ruth, it appeared, had wanted to return and was now keeping house at Bone Gap, Ill.

The time came for my departure and it was with difficulty that I left the residence of Ernest and Martha and continued on my journey. I was compelled to be in St. Louis that evening for an important convention and banquet.

As I neared Murphysboro I discovered I was running short of gas. On the outskirts of that city I drove into a filling station. George Grauel—none other than dear old George—came to replenish my supply. But I had to hurry on.

Driving into Belleville I noticed that it was nearing supper time. I brought the Ford to a halt in front of one of Mr. Thompson's restaurants.

As I was handed the usual ticket I recognized the cashier as being none other than Omer Whitlock. A few words with Omer and I dashed to the counter where I was waited on by Arthur Hendricks. While Arthur was getting the necessary utensils together for repast I chatted with him. Both he and Omer, he said, had abandoned the ministry as a protest to the conference's treatment of Haase.

Omer tried to short-change me when I paid the check. I accepted his profuse apology, however, and went my way. Near the Belleville high school building I was nearly run over by a street car. The motorman, using a language not learned at college, told me where I could go to. I thought his voice had a familiar ring to it and was not surprised to discover that he was my old friend Runkwitz.

Crossing Eads Bridge my fare was collected by Van Houten. By this time I was not surprised at anything, so merely greeted Van in an affectionate manner and hastened on. Down Washington avenue I hurried. I hurried too fast, evidently, for I was ordered by a policeman to bring my Ford to a halt. When Spreckelmeyer recognized me he offered to save me the time of going to police court the next day by accepting my five dollar fine himself. And when he told me Marion Harmon was the police judge I was glad to give him the money.

I parked the Ford near the Statler hotel and hurried in. The meeting I was to attend was already in session—that is the banquet part of it had commenced. I hastened into the cloak room. Divesting myself of my wraps I handed them to the check girl. Alice was surprised to see me. She said so. But I was hungry and hurried away after giving her a small tip.

The banquet room was beautifully decorated, at least every one thought so since the Statler had introduced the custom of employing women as waiters. As I was being ushered to my seat by the head waiter it dawned upon me that she bore a striking resemblance to Mrs. Davis.

The day was complete. I had either seen or had received the latest news of all the members of the Class of '24. As I sat at the banquet table my mind went back to Commencement Day, 1924. The speaker, I remembered, had said something or other about leadership and making a place for oneself in the world; something about the crying need for college graduates. Truly, the Class of '24 had—well, it had alright.

The Circuit Riders founded McKendree College in a veritable wilderness. Today, McKendree College, nearing the completion of its first century of service, stands as a monument to their faith and memory.

I'm offa women for life—It's a tale that gives me pain
I'm offa women for life—The reason for which is plain.
The line she flung was far too deep—
And the jokes I slung just made her weep.
But the worst she did was to fall asleep—
So I'm offa women for life.

Moody: "Last week he sent me candy saying, 'Sweets to the sweet'."

Berk: "A pretty sentiment. What of it?"

Moody: "Now he sends me an ivory hair brush."

* * * *

Pete: "I wish to ask you about a tragedy."

Miss Nixon: "What is it?"

Pete: "What is my grade?"

In astronomy class the other night we were looking at the stars through the telescope. It was Guy's time to look and after a few minutes observation he remarked, "Heaven!"

"Some telescope!"

Marian: "Do you love me?"

Rue: "Yes."

"Would you die for me?"

"No."

"If you wouldn't then you don't love me."

"If I did, then I couldn't."

Some women have depth; the brains of others are merely excavations.—Prof. McClure.

Cherub: "I have a chance for the track team."

Doc. P.: "Why, are they going to raffle it off?"

Parson: "Why don't you drown your sorrow?"

Vic. Haines: "They'd get me for murder."

We know a Frosh who is so dumb that he thinks blank note books are written by anonymous writers.

HAS it ever occurred to you that behind the Public Utilities there is an army of people working to serve the community? They are doing many kinds of work which constantly offers opportunities to trained men and women. The work is interesting and there is plenty of room at the top for the person who makes good. It might pay you to consider this great field before you decide on your life work.
